

NEW KIND OF CONGRESS

Session for Hearings Only Is Suggested.

CALLED AFTER INAUGURATION

A Short Session Could Settle Many Questions—The Public Would Be Informed About the Full Program.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The arrival in Washington of Representative Henry, chairman of the house committee on rules, and one-time candidate for the speakership, has given to the extra session discussion a slightly new angle. Mr. Henry has laid down a tentative program of work including tariff revision, the strengthening of the anti-trust law, and income tax legislation as the principal work for the first session of the new Congress.

Although Mr. Henry is not saying anything about the idea, there is nevertheless considerable talk of a new kind of extra session to be called shortly after inauguration, and to conducting hearings on bills; there would be no legislation at this session, and the probabilities are that it would not last over three months. Congress would then adjourn in good running order and convene for the long session early in December, 1913, with its decks cleared for action. The objects of this plan would be to save time by settling the many questions which arise in connection with appointing the standing committees of the House and Senate, and by clearing the preliminary ground for legislation through hearing interested parties who wish to appear before the committees. It is believed here that this plan would commend itself to President Wilson, whose mode of procedure is slow and conservative. It would have the advantage of satisfying the demand for an extra session without the disadvantage of a long drawn-out wrangle lasting through the hot weather. It is believed by those who are advocating this scheme that the months intervening between the extra session and the regular session would be profitably devoted to the informing of public opinion of the program thus outlined.

LORIMER'S PLACE REMAINS VACANT

Governor of Illinois Must Leave New Election to State Legislature.

Shicago, Nov. 14.—The power to appoint a successor to William Lorimer in the United States Senate does not rest with Gov. Deneen. The governor has so decided after looking up the authorities on the question. He will make no attempt to appoint anyone to fill the vacancy.

According to the decision of the United States Senate in declaring Lorimer's election void no one was ever chosen legally to succeed Albert J. Hopkins. The legislature, in effect failed to elect a senator.

This situation is held to be different from that created when a vacancy occurs by death, resignation, or expulsion. Under the state law it is left for the new legislature to choose two senators, one to succeed Hopkins and another to succeed Cullom.

BYRCE'S SUCCESSOR NAMED.

Sir Cecil Springer-Rice Formally Appointed Ambassador.

London, Nov. 14.—The foreign office yesterday officially announced James Bryce's retirement as ambassador to the United States and Sir Cecil Springer-Rice's appointment to succeed him.

How She Fooled the Doctors

Three years ago my little girl, Angela, was taken sick with scarlet fever and later dropsy set in; her face and limbs swelled and her eyes puffed. A leading physician here at the time, treated her without the slightest success. A sample of her Swamp-Root having been left at the house at the time, I resolved to try it, and as it agreed with her stomach I continued using it with grateful results. The inflammation began to subside after she had taken the first fifty-cent bottle, and after she took two large bottles she was pronounced cured by the doctor and has been in good health ever since. The doctor came to see her every day and examined her every second day until he pronounced her kidneys in perfect condition.

Now then the doctor was under the impression that I was giving my girl medicine, but as his medicine had failed to do a bit of good, and desiring not to offend him, I did not tell him I was giving her Swamp-Root and he did not know the difference. I did not use one drop of his medicine after I started my girl on Swamp-Root, and have always felt that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root saved my girl's life, for which I am grateful.

I cannot praise it too highly.
Very truly,

Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrah and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took two bottles of this medicine and was as well and strong as ever. I feel like a different person and recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to any one suffering from catarrah."

SPORTING NOTES.

Not until last Saturday did the army eleven think that Carlisle has the best aggregation of football warriors in the east. The army authorities had entertained some hopes of victory. Now they are unanimous in their verdict that the Indians are the peer of all other teams in the east. At Carlisle their team is considered not only the best in the annals of the school history, but that it is the most formidable one in the world.

Two of the Exeter football eleven have pledged themselves to enter Dartmouth college next fall, McKean, center, and Bolton, left guard. Luman, a guard, and Church, an end, will pursue their educational studies at Yale university. Williams college will open its doors in another year to Waite, who played half-back on the same team.

Baker, the Philadelphia third baseman, upheld his reputation as a home run hitter by leading the American league in the number of complete circuit hits made during the past season. Baker's record numbered ten.

Next fall Harvard will have a kicker in the backfield that will rival Charlie Brickley for honors in booting field goals in Eddie Mahan. Mahan has been credited with wonderful work on the freshman team in this department. In last Saturday's game against Worcester academy he dropped a beautiful kick from the 47 yard line.

Cy Seymour, for years one of the cleverest performers in the big leagues, is drifting deeper into the bushes. Seymour turned over the Newark club in the International league a couple of years ago by the Giants and now he has been sold to Los Angeles.

Connie Mack has completed a deal with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league whereby Fahay, the former Dartmouth shortstop will be released from the Athletics. Other Athletics that are to figure in the deal are Pitcher Crabb and outfielder Naggart, who go in exchange for Fielder Daley.

Dave Morey, the Dartmouth back, when the football season closes, will have gained the unique distinction of scoring more touchdowns than any other player in the eastern colleges. Morey already has crossed his opponents' line 17 times and there is a possible chance that he will increase the total at least one against Harvard Saturday.

Hudson, the inspirer of the Trinity college eleven, may not be in condition for the Wesleyan game Saturday owing to a knee that was wrenched during the week. If Hudson is unable to make his appearance the Trinity bunch is sure to be visited by defeat. Hudson, in the estimation of many critics, is worthy of a position on the All-American team.

William Clymer, president and principal owner of the Milwaukee club in the Tri-State league, has signed a contract to manage the Buffalo club of the International league next season.

Football fatalities in Colorado have reached the number of three this fall. At Boulder, Colo., last Saturday a young man by the name of George Jack received internal ruptures such that death ensued.

A person by the name of W. J. Kane has brought forward charges against Howard Drew, the sensational Springfield sprinter, that are reflecting professionalism on his high standing. This person Kane insists that Drew, who is somewhat of a gridiron star, had been engaged for a fixed price to take part with the Atlanta Boat club in its annual football game against another boat club of that city. Kane insisted that the amateur authorities tend to the matter at once. When interviewed about the affair Drew emphatically denied the allegation, claiming that he would not risk his athletic future by participating in a football game. The officials of the boat club say that they were not looking for Drew to play and that there was no money involved.

There are many eastern colleges that have met on the gridiron this fall that would be only glad of the chance to face each other again to see if their fortunes would not be reversed. Fordham and Stevens are to meet Saturday for the second time this fall.

Norwich university is working hard to get halfback Burwell on one of Walter Camp's "All-America" football teams. The Norwich institution is feeling considerably encouraged over the following from the Boston Globe: "Walter Camp told Sportsman Saturday night that Burwell, the left half-back of the Norwich university team of Northfield, Vt., has been showing form that entitled him to consideration among the variety backs of the year—by 'variety' meaning an accepted high standard player. It was Burwell, who ran 30 yards to a touchdown in the game with Fordham, receiving the ball from what is termed a delayed split forward pass."

WILSON AND EXTRA SESSION

He is Giving the Subject Plenty of Thought.

WILL PROBABLY CALL ONE

Announces That He Proposes to Carry Out the Pledges Made in Campaign to Cut Special Privilege Out of the Tariff Schedules.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—President-elect Wilson announced last night while speaking of the tariff and monopoly questions that he proposed to carry out the pledges made in his campaign speeches to cut special privilege out of the tariff schedules, prevent unfair competition in business and destroy private monopolies.

It is believed this idea will find expression in a call for an extra session of Congress to consider the tariff question as well as other campaign issues.

The governor now has a fairly complete list of men who have expressed themselves publicly on the advisability of an extra session.

While he is reading assiduously opinions about an extra session, he is just as carefully refraining from looking at the various printed speculations regarding the probable personnel of his cabinet.

WANT A WOMAN IN WILSON CABINET

The Vote Large Enough to Warrant It, Say the Colorado Suffragists.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the Why club, an organization of business and professional women, a movement was launched to have a woman appointed a member of President-elect Wilson's cabinet.

The club met for the purpose of celebrating the entry of four new states into the column of woman suffrage. Mrs. Mary C. Bradford, elected state superintendent of instruction at the recent election, in an address, said that women now poll large enough a vote to be entitled to a place in the cabinet.

At the next meeting of the club, a nation-wide movement will be launched to bring about the appointment of a woman to the cabinet.

NOTES ON NATIONAL POLITICS.

Brief Bits of News and Crisp Comment on Men and Measures.

"I was fearful that we might not find Democrats to fill the offices, but I am being rapidly disillusioned," said Senator Gore of Oklahoma, as with a sigh he laid down the lettergrams from two of his best friends, making application for the same place.

Arthur Capper, Republican, is elected governor of Kansas in the face of official returns. His plurality over Hodges, Democrat, is 53.

The official count of the vote for governor of Indiana at the recent election is completed. The result is tabulated as follows: Reardon (D.), 275,275; Durbin (R.), 142,803; Beveridge (Prog.), 100,054; Reynolds (Sec.), 35,404.

The popular vote cast for the presidential candidates in the state of Georgia Tuesday, Nov. 5, is officially announced as follows: Wilson, 93,171; Roosevelt, 22,010; Taft, 5,151; Debs, 10,141; Chafin, 147.

Just a year late, the state department has received the required legal notice of the approval by the state of Ohio of the proposed constitutional income tax amendment. Two affirmative votes are required for the three-fourths vote prescribed to secure adoption of the amendment, with ten states to be heard from.

President Taft will leave Washington at midnight Friday and reach New York early Saturday. He will attend a reception and assembly at the City college of New York. Thence he will go to Dobbs Ferry to inspect the children's village of the New York juvenile asylum. Saturday night he will attend the banquet of the Lotus club.

Speaker Clark will arrive in Washington Friday.

President Taft plans to fill all vacant positions occurring before March 4, without regard to the approaching change of administrations.

The Republicans elected 208 members of the New Hampshire legislature of 1913 and the Democrats 107, according to figures by the secretary of state, Edward N. Pearson. The Progressives claim 46 of the Republicans.

REA SUCCEEDS MCCREA.

Change in Pennsylvania Railroad Head—Samuel Rea Elected President.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—James McCrea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, resigned yesterday. His resignation was protested at a special meeting of the board of directors. The directors immediately elected Samuel Rea to the position. Mr. Rea has for years served as vice president.

Mr. McCrea in his letter of resignation says that he is approaching the age of sixty-five years and feels that he needs a rest. He adds that forty-six years of his life has been spent in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad.

DEFENCE OF THE GUNMEN

Will Try to Show Webber and Vallon Did Shooting.

STATE RESTS ITS CASE SAYS HE LED PARADERS

Gambler Rose Tells of Murder Deal and Details Dealings with Gunmen—He Clinches the State's Case in the View of Dist. Atty. Whitman.

New York, Nov. 14.—The state rested its case last night in the trial of the four gangsters accused of the Rosenthal murder, and counsel for the gunmen opened for the defense, declaring he would show none of the four participated in shooting or was connected with the plot. He declared he would show his clients were lured to the scene on a pretext, and that the shooting was done by Webber and Vallon, informers, and a mysterious stranger brought into the case for the first time.

He announced his intention of placing all the gunmen on the stand. The cross-examination had indicated that the defense was preparing to attempt to prove others than the gunmen fired the fatal shots. This was particularly noticeable in the examination of Jack Rose, who repeated essentially the same testimony he gave at the Becker trial—that the defendants, threatened by Becker with a "frame up" on the charge of carrying concealed weapons, had agreed to kill Rosenthal.

Rose was on the witness stand for three hours before a respite in the form of the midday recess was granted at 1:20 p. m. Most of the time was consumed in his cross-examination by former Magistrate Wahl, counsel for the accused.

From District Attorney Whitman's viewpoint the testimony of Rose yesterday clinched the case against the gunmen. Counsel for the defendants did not succeed in entangling the witness even as to his minor statements.

Calmly and glibly Rose began his narrative, going over much of the ground covered at the Becker trial. He told of meetings with the gunmen, of Becker's threat to "frame them" unless they "croaked" Rosenthal; of Becker's boast that he would shield them after the job was done.

"All right; we'll do it," the witness said the defendants assured him. Rose described "the plot that failed"—the attempt to kill Rosenthal at the Garden restaurant, which Rose said he frustrated himself when he told "Gyp," "Lefty" and "Dago Frank" that they were being watched by a detective. He told how Becker had cursed him because the plot failed, and had burst out, "Have him killed in front of a policeman!"

Rose said he tried to get the gunmen to leave town till "the time was ripe."

He gave "Louie" $50 he said, and they went to Rockaway Beach, where they remained until Nov. 13. Rose described his movements that night, saying he had gone in an automobile to "Dago Frank's" place, picked him up and drove to "Bridge" Webber's poker rooms, where he met the other three gunmen. There they all had drinks.

"Then they all went out," continued Rose, and that was the last I saw of them. "A little later I heard that Rosenthal was shot."

The next day, Rose continued, he saw "Dago Frank" and "Lefty Louie" and paid "Louie" $1,000, furnished him by "Bridge" Webber. Rose said he told the two gunmen Becker had said to "lay low for a while and don't worry."

"BABE" McDONALD STOPS WILD HORSE

Olympic Champion Shot-Putter Proves Himself Stronger Than Beast.

New York, Nov. 14.—"Babe" McDonald, Olympic champion shot-putter, whose post as a traffic policeman is at 43rd street and Broadway, in the heart of the street and theatrical district, matched his strength against a horse and won. A delivery wagon horse had broken from its bridle and leaped on the sidewalk, causing a panic among the crowds and imperiling women and children, when McDonald ran to the walk, seized the plunging and kicking beast by the head and dragged it by main force to the roadway. McDonald lost his balance and fell heavily during his struggle, but clung on and regained his feet time to avoid injury from the animal's hoofs.

CALLS COUNTRY LADS SUPERIOR.

Hands That Milk Seize Opportunities, Declaration of Educator.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Schoolboys should never be permitted in their waking moments to be idle, according to A. C. Monahan, specialist in rural education in the United States bureau of education, who addressed the first conference here on the "Boy and the Home." They should be kept consistently at work, according to Mr. Monahan, especially in educative labor, outside of school hours. Because of this practice, the educator pointed out, country lads were leaders in their class work, and the hands that milked the cows and did the constructive work about the farm were the same hands that grasped the opportunities of life.

"Such work will illustrate the lessons he receives from books," said Mr. Monahan, referring to the average boy, "and will give a purpose to his whole education."

In advocating exercises for the growing boy, Dr. William C. Woodward, health officer of the District of Columbia, declared that there was just as much nourishment in fresh air as in bread, butter, or beef steak. The symposium on the "boy" will continue for several days.

WORKED TO AVERT RIOTS

Editor at Salem Continues His Testimony.

AWAY FROM SOLDIERS—SAW FIERY CIRCULAR AFTER PUBLICATION ONLY—EXPLAINS SPEECHES CALLED INCENDIARY TO THE STATE.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 14.—Joseph J. Ettor told the Lawrence strikers the constitution, laws, courts, police and soldiers belonged to the capitalists, he testified yesterday under cross examination in the Lopez murder trial.

He said he told them that because of his own knowledge of conditions in this country and wished to make them "familiar with the institutions of this country." He recalled telling the strikers, January 25, that the mill owners would come to terms the next day or "something would happen they would not like."

He explained certain statements which have been put in by the prosecution as incendiary language, inciting to riot. On all points, even to details his memory served him well. His alleged threat that Lawrence would become an unhappy city he interpreted as merely "information" based on a conference he had at Hotel Needham, with two men representing power-house and gas-house workers, who said that their people were receiving low pay, some as low as $1.50 a day, and were considering what to do. They were generally dissatisfied and had much sympathy for the textile workers.

Ettor said he had on one occasion cautioned against holding parades because they have elements of danger, as for example, when the Syrians one morning formed a parade and marched down a line across the street with fixed bayonets, and the question came up whether the soldiers should salute the flag which the strikers were carrying. A boy in the crowd yelled "fire," and it was only by a miracle that a massacre was averted.

"Did you sign the circular?" asked Attorney Mahoney, showing him a circular in evidence.

"I warned everybody against using my name."

"So I take it you did not sign it?"

"No, sir."

Ettor explained that he did meet some newspaper men at Hotel Needham who told him that there was talk all over the city that the mill men said the strike was settled and that the strikers would go back the following Monday. The newspaper men wanted to know what Ettor would do about it. Haywood was there and he suggested that a statement be issued for the papers and that a circular be sent out. Ettor did not see, he said, how a circular could be printed in time, and he said he thought Colombo could not do it. For some reason which he could not explain he said he was called to the telephone and left the room and that is all he knows about that circular.

SICKNESS HALTS DYNAMITE TRIAL.

Two Jurors Ill—Detectives Investigate Shooting of Witness.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Because of the illness of two jurors the dynamite conspiracy trial yesterday was continued until to-morrow. Allen Spaulding, the juror stricken with vertigo, was unable to sit up, and John L. Thomas of Jamestown, Ind., another juror, was in bed with gripe. Spaulding and Thomas both were threatened with pneumonia, physicians said.

Detectives are investigating the mysterious shooting of Mrs. Alta Hawkins, an important witness for the government. Mrs. Hawkins was shot through both legs late yesterday but the police were not informed until early to-day. Friends told the officers she went hunting with a mysterious friend and was brought home injured. The friend disappeared.

In 1908 when the Von Speckelson jobs in Indianapolis were dynamited Mrs. Hawkins kept a boarding house frequented by ironworkers, and it was said that she was to give testimony damaging to several of the defendants.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—United States Deputy Marshal Jacoby, having learned that several hundred pounds of dynamite were stored in the vicinity of the Renton coal mine of the Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power company, where a strike has been in progress several months, telegraphed yesterday to Washington for authority to employ ten more deputies to reinforce the eighteen government officers on duty at the mine.

HAS APPENDICITIS CURE.

San Francisco Physician Declares Operation Isn't Necessary.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Operations will no longer be necessary in the cure of appendicitis, according to statements made by Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco. The assertion was made at the first annual convention of the American Association for the study of Spondylitis, a disease of the spine, which was made, according to the physician, by pressing on certain vertebrae, which went toward the straightening of the sigmoid loop in the large intestine.

THE EXTRA PAIR

Every man has use for one or two extra pairs of trousers; the pair that belongs to your suit gets shabby before the coat, and an extra pair makes almost a new suit.

Many men are afraid to buy a pair of "extras" because it is often hard to find a pair ready-made that will really fit and look dressy.

Ours are different. They are tailored to fit you, and they do.

In the following paragraph he tells how warning is given of the proximity of the rhinoceros: "Fortunately, in the thick stuff especially, it is often possible to avoid the chance rhinoceros through the warning given by the rhinoceros birds. These are birds about the size of a robin that accompany the beast everywhere. They sit in a row along his back occupying themselves with ticks and a good place to roost. Always they are peaceful and quiet until a human being approaches. Then they flutter a few feet into the air, uttering a peculiar rapid chattering. Writers with more sentiment than sense of proportion assure us that this warning of the rhinoceros of approaching danger. On the contrary, I always looked at it the other way. The rhinoceros birds thereby warned me of danger and I was duly thankful."
